

National Seminar on Human Rights and Media Ethics

5th National Seminar on Human Rights and Media Ethics organised by PG & Research Department of Economics and sponsored UGC – New Delhi, dated 25th July 2014. Media Ethics should be strengthened and evaluated by the academic community rather than society, said Mr.Sudhangan, Senior Journalist & writer. The students and academic community actively participate and strengthen the media ethics, said Dennis Selvan, Principal correspondent, Times of India Mr.Sudhangan released the seminar paper in the session. 5000 booklets were freely distributed for the students related to Human Rights Educations. 500 participants were participated in around Tamilnadu and Kerala.50 papers were presented during the seminar sessions. The students and research scholars enriched in deep knowledge in media ethics and human rights in India. Many participants would like to do research on Media Ethics and Human Rights in near future. Dr.S.Anbalagan, principal of Rajah Serfoji Government College, presided over the function. Dr. V.Durairaj, Head, Dept. of Economics welcomed guests and participants. Dr.A.Arulraj organising secretary gave a vote of thanks.

Presidential Address by Dr.S.Anbalagan, Principal, RSG College

Special Address by Dennis Selvan, Principal correspondent, Times of India

A section of audience of the seminar